

ATLANTIC CANADA'S CHAPTER OF THE
HIGH TECHNOLOGY CRIME INVESTIGATION ASSOCIATION,

KPMG FORENSICS
&
THE ROYAL CANADIAN MOUNTED POLICE
TECHNOLOGICAL CRIME UNIT

INTERNET SAFETY: PROTECTING YOU AND YOUR FAMILY

FREE PUBLIC EVENT

When: Thursday, October 18th, 7:00-9:00PM (doors open at 6:30)

Where: Holiday Inn, 180 Portugal Cove Rd., St. John's, NL

- o Internet safety is not really a concern around here...is it?
- o What you need to help protect your child from internet-facilitated child exploitation.
- o How to teach young people to recognize a predator's behaviour on-line.
- o Learn tips on general family internet safety

Event Schedule:

- o 7:00-8:00PM, Internet Safety – Specific concerns regarding the online exploitation of children.
- o 8:00-9:00PM, General Family Internet Safety; viruses, fraud, phishing, spam, spyware, etc.

Listen to Presentations from:

- o RCMP, Internet Child Exploitation Unit; Cpl. Dave Fox (Halifax)
- o National Child Exploitation Coordination Centre; Cst. Lana Prosper (Ottawa)
- o Lisa Brown, Child Find Newfoundland and Labrador

Family Internet Safety Panelists:

- o Royal Newfoundland Constabulary, Computer Forensic Unit
- o Greg Bembridge, Forensic Analyst, Technological Crime Unit, RCMP
- o Sylvain Dumas, McAfee

Association Information:

The Atlantic Canada Chapter of the HTCIA is a group that aims to provide advocacy for high tech security. Members of the chapter include high tech security professionals and members of law enforcement, who are involved in the investigation and/or prosecution of criminal activity, associated with computers and/or advanced technologies.

Event Coordinator:

Greg Bembridge,
Technological Crime Unit
Royal Canadian Mounted Police conference@atl-htcia.org

NOTE: Adult topics of discussion. Suited for audiences 12 years of age and older.

